Love, laughs and henna

OZ ASIA: Humna Mustafa's artwork has seen her travel from Pakistan to Adelaide for love and a dream.

"I moved to Adelaide five years ago with my husband because he had met some Aussies when he was backpacking around Europe," the 30 year old says.

"He'd fallen in love with the people and said he liked the way they laugh."

In India, Mustafa designed large sculptures but in moving she could only bring a few small pieces with her and a couple of coins of henna (a dye for skin, hair and fabric).

For the OzAsia Festival Mustafa is again working with henna and has created four pieces.

"My work portrays the four elements of nature and nature is me."

OzAsia Festival, Following Threads, Adelaide Festival Theatre, Artspace Gallery, until Saturday, November 8. Mustafa is also running a design workshop for teenagers in the Artspace on October 10 and 17. Details: 8216 8850.

A fashionable address

FASHION: For prominent Rundle St landlord the Maras Group, it's been the best of times in one of the worst of times.

In the world's toughest 12 months financially, the group has managed to attract nine of Australia's leading fashion labels to the south side of Rundle St, and six more are still trying to move in. It all started when the Whistles lease came to an end in early January, paving the way for Gripp Jeans, followed by Sass and Bide, Mimco, Calibre, and Saba.

Next month Lisa Ho will take over the old Natuzzi showroom, with Zimmermann and Alannah Hill now fitting out their shops to open mid-November, just in time for Christmas trading. "One of the main reasons they've come here is because they all know they're going to be grouped together in the same strip." Steve Maras, managing director of the Maras Group, says while sipping tea at one of his fave Rundle St haunts, Eros Ouzeri, last week.

"The whole idea to create a strip with top-end boutiques was supposed to be a two or three year program but it's happened in 12 months - one of the worst 12 months - so we're pretty happy."

Just off Rundle St on Ebenezer Place, Mr Maras says the group has bought a 300 sq m block of land and plans to turn it into a boutique hotel next year, although he's tight-lipped on specifics.

"We want to create something a little bit unique in the East End.

"It's going to have a little bit of a twist to it - that's all I'm going to say."

Saba store manager Billy Winterbotham says the boutique finished in the top three nationally for sales at SABA stores in September - one month after opening - and is now awaiting the busy Spring Carnival season.

"It's nice to be part of such a prestigious strip in Adelaide," he says.

Thief's got it in the bag

ARREST: An Adelaide man was arrested last weekend after he allegedly stole money from an employee's handbag at P.J. O'Brien's Irish Pub in East Tee. Police said they found the 26 year old standing next to the hotel's safe on Saturday (October 10) just before 2am. After searching him they allegedly seized $50 which was taken from a staff member's handbag nearby. He was charged with criminal trespass, theft and breach of bail.

NEWSPACK

If you haven't done your tax, then you better get moving as October 31 is the deadline to lodge income tax returns. Acting Tax Commissioner Bruce Quigley has reminded people who are preparing their own returns not to leave it until the last minute and suggests using E-tax, which can be downloaded at www.ato.gov.au.
