

THE ADELAIDIAN

(<http://theadelaidian.net/>)

BY THE ADELAIDIAN (HTTP://THEADELAIDIAN.NET/AUTHOR/ADMIN/) / DECEMBER 18, 2015

NOLA BRINGS NEW ORLEANS TO THE EAST END

The latest addition to the booming small bar scene in Adelaide is a two-storied joint in the old stables down the East End. The name NOLA(<http://www.nolaadelaide.com>) stands for New Orleans, Louisiana, and the bar aims to encompass all the amazing quirks the city is so famous for.

<http://theadelaidian.net/wp-content/uploads/2015/12/nola2.jpg>

Wild boar meatballs

A visit to NOLA isn't complete without trying some of the amazing food from the kitchen. A unanimous opinion from both media and barflies alike has seen NOLA claim the title of most delicious fried chicken in Adelaide, accompanied by an ever-changing dipping sauce and perfected by a few drops of the numerous bottles of hot sauce that live on every table. Also on the menu is a variety of gumbo and jambalaya, featuring ingredients that change every few days, like mushroom, prawn and mussel, duck and chorizo. Wild boar meatballs are another popular option, and if you come past during the day you can try a Po-Boy, a delicious roll filled with varying ingredients, like smoked mussel, three cheese and beef brisket, paired with salad and sauce. As with the tap beers, the food menu is always changing, so there's always something new!

